November 10, 2025: On the Ongoing Criminal Conspiracy of Donald John Trump

As we continue to see that there are, in fact, people that are above the law in America, let us all reflect on a very simple question:

If the leader of the United States Executive Branch, Department of Justice, and Federal Police Force is immune from criminal prosecution, from criminal penalties, and from American justice - as well as all of his political cronies and assistants,

> The "full, complete, and unconditional" pardon applies only to federal crimes, and none of the dozens of Trump allies named in the proclamation were ever charged federally over the bid to subvert the election won by Democrat Joe Biden. It doesn't impact state charges, though state prosecutions stemming from the 2020 election have hit a dead end or are just limping along.
> The move, however, underscores Trump's continued efforts to promote the idea that the 2020 election was stolen from him even though courts around the country and U.S. officials found no evidence of fraud that could have affected the outcome. It follows the sweeping pardons of the hundreds of Trump supporters charged in the Jan. 6, 2021, riot at the U.S. Capitol, including those convicted of attacking law enforcement.

Then, WHY SHOULD ANYONE ELSE FOLLOW THE LAWS THAT THEIR CRIMINAL ADMINISTRATION IS ENFORCING AGAINST THE PEOPLE THAT ARE NOT POLITICALLY CONNECTED?

This is a legitimate question and is only properly answered with our own desire to live within a society that has a standard of law and order.

Unfortunately, the people that are running the United States branches of law enforcement have already left that nonsense behind, right?

What's next? Well, I can show you the future:

As a good and respectable American citizen, Should I salute this, or not?

I am confused. Is this American Patriotism now?

Should I use a nazi salute? a car did drive by to signify a yes.
